BUSINESSES RACING TO HOUSE HOMELESS GIRLS

A project to house homeless girls aged 10-16yrs has a radical plan for social reform!

We are currently experiencing an epidemic of family breakdowns and youth homelessness in Australia... the beautiful Sunshine Coast is not immune.

"On average, 100,000 people were homeless last night in Australia, 25,000 of these are between the ages of 12 and 18. We just are not able to keep up with the demands that this places on our services; especially here on the Sunshine Coast." Mr Fraser said of The Solution Network Australia.

"We are also battling with unprecedented welfare junkies that have been groomed from an early age to live on Tax Payers dollars!" he said.

The Solution Network Australia, a Foundation set up to work with children who are being exploited due to their homelessness, has embarked on a bold mission to self fund their housing project by the year 2010.

"We can no longer depend on Government Funding to keep our welfare services afloat... we must become proactive and lateral in our approaches." Mr Fraser said.

How do you become self funding? Through corporate sponsorships and business Ventures.

A major corporate event has been set up on the Sunshine Coast called "The Great Corporate Race", an exciting program designed to help corporations build highly successful teams.

"This is perfect for organisations that are doing conferences and incentives and who would like an activity that is TOTALLY UNIQUE!" Mr Fraser said.

Contestants will travel through venues on the Coast from Australia Zoo and Underwater World to Aussie World and The Big Kart Track, venues conducive to the most amazing adventures.

"This is a unique adventure for corporations to have the time of their lives experiencing the best the Sunshine Coast has to offer while getting in touch with workmates, their organisation's strategic plan and themselves," Mr Fraser said

"It can be what you want it to be to develop your staff. It's the most innovative and leading edge workplace skill and competency development tool available on the Market.

"I encourage businesses wanting to build teams and develop the potential of their managers and staff to investigate how entering The Great Corporate Race can benefit their organisation."

"The Race is totally not-for-profit with all profit raised going to help eradicate youth homelessness." he said.
